Willard Batteries

Five Threaded Rubber Reasons

1. Willard Threaded Rubber Batteries are standard on 172 makes of motor cars and trucks, and on export models of 2 others.

2. Most of the important battery improvements originated with Willard, and are today found in the Willard Threaded Rubber Battery.

3. Threaded Rubber Insulation saves you money because it does not warp, puncture, crack, or carbonize. It outlasts the plates.

4. Threaded Rubber Insulation—found only in the Willard Threaded Rubber Battery—permits "bone-dry" shipment that keeps the battery new.

5. As an authorized Willard Service Station we offer to every Willard user the benefit of the broad Willard policies.

Asked what were his thoughts when he slid from an airplane 22,000 feet in the air and took the chance which gave him the world's record for parachute jumping, Sergeant Ensel Chambers, 135th U. S. Aero Squadron, replied: "If you would attain the ultimate in thrills and have some conception of what 'taking a chance' means, I can recommend a four-mile drop from above the clouds, with the proper working of a bit of mechanism deciding whether your jump is to be eternity." The record jump of 22,000 feet was made at the aerial station at Fort Sill, Oklahoma. Chambers' record is accepted as official. The registered height by altimeter was 21,000 feet, which, with the height of 1,200 feet above sea level, makes the official record for the jump 22,000 feet. The photograph shows Staff-Sergeant Ensel Chambers on the right with parachute and Pilot Lieutenant Paul T. Wagner on left.

PLEADS FOR PEANUT

Yields Milk and Other Foods, Professor Tells House Committee.

In Asking for Protective Duty He Tells of 100 Different Products That Have Been Discovered.

Washington.—More than 100 varieties of products from peanuts, ranging from the parent of milks for the sick room, mothers and infants, to ink useful for writing and sketching, have been discovered by George W. Carver, negro professor of Tuskegee institute. He showed them to the ways and means committee of the house, and delivered a discourse on them that was greeted with applause from the members and spectators—the first demonstration of the sort that the tariff hearings have known.

Chairman Fordney told him he had made a valuable contribution to science and Representative Garner (Dem.), Texas, a member for 15 years, declared the negro had made the most wonderful exhibition he had ever known to be presented the committee.

Professor Carver is fifty-two years old, and the son of ex-slaves. He was born in Diamond, Mo., and his education began at the age of fifteen years. His high school training was received in Minneapolis. He is a graduate of Iowa Agricultural college, with the degrees of A. B. and A. M., and was a student for six years of former Secretary of Agriculture Wilson. He has declined degrees of D. D. and Ph. D. He is now head of the research and experiment station of Tuskegee.

His discoveries exhibited include ten kinds of milk, five kinds of poultices—cherry, lemon, orange, blackberry, and plum; salted peanuts; two grades of flour; two grades of meal; five breakfast foods; new flavorings for ice cream, cakes, gingerbread, cookies and various confections; chocolate-coated peanuts; peanut candy bars; crystallized peanuts; three relishes; nine wood stains, ranging from malachite green to faded golden oak; black ink; face powder and face cream; Worcester'shire sauce; four kinds of stock foods, including a hay composition made from the vine; ground hay with peanut cake; and a sweet food with Chinaberry added as a tonic, and various kinds of oils.

While he did not go into the other investigations he has made, he stated that thus far he has discovered 17 products that can be made from sweet potatoes. "Products from peanuts already discovered will go far ahead. I have not shown you one-half the peanut products. My work with them has just begun."

He said the flavoring extract obtained from the peanuts could be used as a base for any number of flavors, and he mentioned strawberries, lemon and vanilla, in addition to those he showed the committee.

Professor Carver appeared under the auspices of the United Peanut Association of America, which is asking for a protective duty against peanuts.

Baby's Cries Will Now Be Carried to Dad's Ear in the Woo-Bran Hours.

Portland, Ore.—P. A. Curry of Baber has come to the aid of neglected infants.

Curry takes his patent with a certain view of responsibility. Curry Junior's biggest source of complaint is the fact that on several occasions he has had to do without company in the wee small hours because his cries were unheard by his sire.

So Curry, Sr., plans to install three voice transmitters over the infant's bed connecting with a receiver over that of his father.

In the future Curry will be awakened by a great shout every time his infant charge sees fit to announce his awakening.

R. A. Hiscano will be its general manager. Charles M. Engle and Eben E. Olcott will be on the board of directors.

It will be operated from the same pier in New York city as heretofore, and Mr. Hiscano will shortly announce the schedule of operation and date of opening of business.

KERHONKSON CHURCH

Evangelistic Services Have Been Very Successful.

Kerhonkson, March 3.—Sunday, February 27, was the day long to be remembered in the history of the Kerhonkson Reformed Church. It marked the close of a week's Evangelistic effort and 28 new members were added to the church and for the first time took Communion. For two weeks before the preaching services in the church, cottage prayer meetings were held in the village and nearby vicinity. These meetings were wonderful in spirit shown and in attendance and God again proved himself a prayer answering God. Sheldon Vandeburg brought a strong, simple and convincing Gospel message and Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Paxson and the large choir told the story of salvation in song to congregations that taxed the capacity of the church. The Reformed Church has been greatly blessed during the pastorate of the Rev. Alex. T. Paxson. In less than two years 91 new members have been added, many improvements made, and the finances of the church is in exceptional condition.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS OF PRESIDENT HARDING

America Anxious to Participate in Any Seemly Program Likely to Lessen Probability of War and Promote World Peace.

ASSOCIATION FOR COUNSEL

State Offensive Warfare So Hatred
That Governments and Peoples Who Resort to It Must Prove the Rightness of Their Cause or Stand as Outlaws Before Bar of Civilization.

Washington.—The Inaugural Address of President Warren G. Harding was as follows:

My countrymen.—When one surveys the world about him after the great war, noting the marks of destruction and yet rejoicing in the ruggedness of the things which withstand it, if he is an American he breathes the charged atmosphere with a strange mingling of regret and hope. We have seen a world passion-spend its fury, but we contemplate a republic unshaken and hold our civilization secure. Liberty—liberty within the law—and civilization are inseparable, and though both were threatened, we find them now secure; and there comes to Americans the profound assurance that our representative government is the highest expression and surest guaranty of both.

Standing in this presence, mindful of the solemnity of this occasion, feeling the emotions which no one may know until he senses the great weight of responsibility for himself, I must utter my belief in the divine inspiration of the founding fathers. Surely, there must have been God's intent in the making of this new world republic. Ours is an organic law which had but one ambiguity, and we saw that offered in a baptism of sacrifice and blood, with union maintained, the nation supreme and its concord inspiring. We have seen the world rivet its hopeful gaze on the great truths in which the founders wrought. We have seen civil, human and religious liberty verified and glorified. In the beginning, the old world scoffed at our experiment; today our foundations of political and social belief stand unshaken, a precious inheritance to ourselves, an inspiring example of freedom and civilization to all mankind. Let us express renewed and strengthened devotion in grateful reverence to the immortal beginning and utter our confidence in the supreme fulfillment.

Progress Proves Wisdom
The recorded progress of our republic, materially and spiritually, itself proves the wisdom of the inherent policy of non-entailment in old world affairs. Confident of our ability to work out our own destiny and jealously guarding our right to do so, we seek no part in directing the destinies of the old world. We do not mean to be entangled, we will accept no responsibility except as our own conscience and judgment, in each instance, may determine.

Our eyes never will be blind to a developing menace, our ears never deaf to the call of civilization. We recognize the new order in the world, with the closer contacts which progress has wrought. We sense the call of the human heart for fellowship, fraternity and co-operation. We crave friendship and harbor no hate. But America—our America, the America founded on the foundation laid by the inspired fathers, can be a party to no permanent military alliance. It can enter into no political commitments, nor assume any economic obligations which will subject our decisions to any other than our own authority.

I am sure our own people will not misunderstand, nor will the world misconstrue. We have no thought to impede the paths to closer relationship. We wish to promote understanding. We want to do our part in making offensive warfare so hateful that governments and peoples who resort to it must prove the righteousness of their cause or stand as outlaws before the bar of civilization.

Association for Counsel

We are ready to associate ourselves with the masses of the world, great and small, for conference, for counsel, to seek the expressed views of world opinion; to recommend a way to appropriate disarmament and remove the crushing burdens of military and naval establishments. We elect to participate in suggesting plans for disarmament, conciliation and arbitration, and would gladly join in that expressed conviction of progress which seeks to clarify and drive the haze of international relationship and establish a world court for the settlement of such justiciable questions of nations are agreed to submit there. In suggesting suggestions in working practical plans, to transcending humanity's new concept of righteousness and justice and its hatred of war, the recommended action are not such as to be merely to make, but every recommendation must be made in the spirit of our common humanity.

Now freedom inspired and independent, now united and undivided, we stand as a world super-government to control to compelling us to stand and the have, no sanction by our republic. This is not enthusiasm; it is sanctity. It is not alacrity; it is security. It is not suspicion of others; it is patriotic adherence to the things which made us what we are.

Today, better than ever before, we know the aspirations of human kind and share them. We have come to a new realization of our place in the world and new appraisal of our nation by the world. The unpopularity of these United States is a thing proven, our devotion to peace for ourselves and for the world is well established, our concern for preserved civilization has had its impassioned and heroic expression. There was no American failure to resist the attempted reversion of civilization, there will be no failure today or tomorrow.

Rests on Popular Will

The success of our popular government rests wholly upon the correct interpretation of the deliberate, intelligent, dependable popular will of America. In a deliberate questioning of a suggested change of national policy where internationalism was to supersede nationality we turned to a referendum to the American people. There was ample discussion, and there is a public mandate in manifest understanding.

America is ready to encourage, eager to initiate, anxious to participate in any seemly program likely to lessen the probability of war and promote that brotherhood of mankind which must be God's highest conception of human relationship. Because we cherish ideals of justice and peace, because we appraise international comity and helpful relationship no less highly than any people of the world, we aspire to a high place in moral leadership of civilization, and we hold maintained America, the proven republic, the unshaken temple of representative democracy, to be not only an inspiration and example, but the highest agency of strengthening good will and promoting accord on both continents.

Mankind needs a world wide benediction of understanding. It is needed among individuals, among peoples, among governments, and it will inaugurate an era of good feeling to mark a birth of a new order. Such understanding men will strive conscientiously for the promotion of their better relationships and nations will promote comity as essential to peace.

Trade Ties Bind Closely

We must understand that ties of trade bind nations in closest intimacy and none may receive except as he gives. We have not strengthened ours in accordance with our resources or our genius, notably on our own continent, where a galaxy of republics reflect the glory of new world democracy, but in the new order of finance and trade we mean to promote enlarged activities and seek expanded confidence.

Perhaps we can make no more helpful contribution by example than prove a republic's capacity to emerge from the wreckage of war. While the world's embittered travail did not leave us devastated lands nor desolate cities, left no gaping wounds, no breast with hate, it did involve us in the debris of expenditure, in expanded currency and credits, in unbalanced industry, in unspeakable waste and disturbed relationships. While it uncovered our portion of hateful selfishness at home, it also revealed the heart of America as sound and fearless and beating in confidence unflinching. Amid it all we have riveted the gaze of all civilization to the unselfishness and the righteousness of representative democracy where our freedom has never made offensive warfare, has never sought territorial aggrandizement through force, never has turned to the arbitrament of arms until reason has been exhausted. When the governments of the earth shall have established a freedom like our own and shall have sanctioned the pursuit of peace as we have practiced it, I believe the last sorrow and the final sacrifice of international warfare will have been written.

Our supreme task is the resumption of our onward, normal way. Reconstruction, readjustment, restoration—all these must follow. I would like to hasten them if it will lighten the spirit and add to the resolution with which we take up the task. Let me repeat: For our nation we shall give no people just cause to make war upon us, we hold no national prejudices, we entertain no spirit of revenge, we do not hate, we do not covet, we dream of no conquest nor lust of armed powers. If, despite this attitude, war is again forced upon us I earnestly hope a way may be found which will unify our individual and collective strength and co-ordinate all American materially and spiritually, body and soul, to national defense. I can envision the ideal republic where every man and woman is called under the flag for assignment to duty for whatever service, military or civil, the individual is best fitted; where we may call to universal service every plant, agency or facility, all in the sublime sacrifice for country, and not one penny of our profit shall inure to the benefit of private individual, corporation or combination, but all above the normal shall flow into the defense chest of the nation. There is something inherently wrong, something out of accord with the ideals of representative democracy when one portion of our citizenship turns its activities to private gain and defrauds our whole society in fighting, arming or dying for national preservation.

Unity of Spirit and Purpose

Out of such universal service will come a new unity of spirit and purpose, a new confidence and constant

 *****
 The success of our popular government rests wholly upon the correct interpretation of the deliberate, intelligent, dependable popular will of America. tion, which would make our defense impregnable, our triumph assured. Then we should have little or no disorganization of our economic, industrial and commercial systems at home; no staggering war debts, no swollen fortunes to float the sacrifices of our soldiers, no excuse for sedition, no pitiable slackness, no outrage of treason, envy and jealousy would have no soil for their menacing development, and revolution would be without the passion which engenders it; a regret for the mistakes of yesterday must not, however, blind us to the tasks of today. War never left such an aftermath, and there has been staggering loss of life and measureless wastage of materials. Nations are still groping for return to stable ways. Discouraging indebtedness confronts us like all the war-torn nations, and these obligations must be provided for. No civilization can survive repudiation.

We can reduce the abnormal expenditures, and we will; we can strike at war taxation, and we must. We must face the grim necessity, with full knowledge that the task is to be solved, and we must proceed with a full realization that no statute enacted can repeal the inexorable laws of nature. Our most dangerous tendency is to expect too much of government, and at the same time do for it too little.

We contemplate the immediate task of putting our public household in order. We need a rigid and yet sane economy combined with final justice, and it must be attended by individual prudence and thrift, which are so essential to this trying hour and reassuring for the future.

Reflection of War's Reaction

The business world reflects the disturbance of war's reaction. Herein flows the life blood of material existence. The economic mechanism is intricate and its parts interdependent, and has suffered the shocks and jars incident to abnormal demands, credit inflations and price upheavals. The normal balances have been impaired. The channels of distribution have been clogged, the relations of labor and management have been strained. We must seek the readjustment with care and courage. Our people must give and take. Prices must reflect the receding fever of war activities. Perhaps we never shall know the old levels of wage again, because war invariably readjusts compensations, and the necessities of life will show their inseparable relationship, but we must strive for normalcy to reach stability. All the penalties will not be light nor evenly distributed. There is no way of making them so. There is no instant steps from disorder to order. We must face a condition of grim reality, charge off our losses and start afresh. It is the oldest lesson of civilization. I would like government to do all it can to mitigate, then, in understanding, in mutuality of interest, of concern for the common good, our task will be solved. No altered system will work a miracle; any wild experiment will only add to the confusion. Our best assurance lies in efficient administration of our present system.

From Destruction to Production

The forward course of the business cycle is unmistakable. Peoples are turning from destruction to production. Industry has ceased the clanking order, and our own people are turning to resume their normal, onward way. The call is for productive America to go on. I know that Congress and the administration will favor every wise government policy to aid the resumption and encourage continued progress. I speak for administrative efficiency. For lightened tax burdens, for sound commercial practices, for adequate credit facilities, for sympathetic concern for all agricultural problems, for the omission of unnecessary interference of government with business, for an end to government's experiment in business and for more efficient business in government administration. With all of this must attend a mindfulness of the human side of all activities, so that social, industrial and economic justice will be secured with the purposes of a righteous people. With the nation-wide induction of womanhood into our political life we may count upon her intuitions, her refinement, her intelligence and her influence to establish the world order. We count upon her exercise of the full privileges and the performance of the duties of citizenship to speed the attainment of the highest state.

Prayer for Industrial Peace

I wish for an America so free that in struggling against dangers from within it is so watched against enemies from without. Our fundamental law recognizes no class, no group, no section. There must be none in violation or subordination. The supreme inspiration is the common weal. The primary language for honest, loyal peace, and we have it with all mankind. My most fervent prayer for America is for industrial peace, with its rewards widely and justly distributed and the temptations of equal opportunity. No one justly may deny the equality of opportunity which made us what we are. We have mistaken unpardoned to embrace it to be a challenge of the reality, and due concern for making all citizens fit for participation will give added strength of citizenship and magnify our achievement. If revolution insists on overturning established order let other peoples make the tragic experiment. There is no place for it in America. When world war threatened civilization we pledged our resources and our lives to our preservation, and when revolution threatens we unfurl the flag of law and order and renew our consecration. Ours is a constitutional freedom where the popular will is the law supreme and minorities are sacredly protected. Our revisions, reformations and evolutions reflect a deliberate judgment and an orderly progress, and we mean to cure our ills, but never destroy or permit destruction by force.

I had rather submit our industrial controversies to the conference table in advance than to a settlement table after conflict and suffering. The earth is thirsting for the cup of good will. Understanding its fountain source, I would like to acclaim an era of good feeling amid dependable prosperity and all the blessings which attend.

Protection of Industries

It has been proved again and again that we cannot while throwing our markets open to the world maintain American standards of living and opportunity and hold our industrial eminence in such unequal competition. There is a turing fallacy in the theory of banished barriers of trade, but preserved American standards require our higher production costs to be reflected in our tariffs on imports. Today as never before, when peoples are seeking trade restoration and expansion, we must adjust our tariff to the new order. We seek participation in the world's exchanges because therein lies our way to widened influence and the triumphs of peace. We know full well we cannot sell where we do not buy, and we cannot sell successfully where we do not carry. Opportunity is calling not alone for the restoration, but for a new era in production, transportation and trade. We shall answer it best by meeting the demand of a surging home market by promoting self reliance in production and by bidding enterprise, genius and efficiency to carry our cargoes in American bottoms to the markets of the world.

An America of Homes

We would not have an America living within and for herself alone, but we would have herself reliant, independent and even nobler, stronger and richer. Believing in our higher standards, reared through constitutional liberty and maintained opportunity, we invite the world to the same heights. But pride in things wrought is no reflex of a completed task. Common welfare is the goal of our national endeavor. Wealth is inimical to welfare; it ought to be its friendliest agency. There never can be equality of rewards or possessions so long as the human plan contains varied talents and differing degrees of industry and thrift. But ours ought to be a country free from great blotches of distressed property. We ought to find a way to guard against the perils and penalties of unemployment. We want an America of homes, illumined with hope and happiness, where mothers, freed from the necessity for long hours of toil beyond their own doors, may preside as befits the hearthstone of American citizenship. We want the cradle of American childhood rocked under conditions so wholesome and so hopeful that no blight may touch it in its development, and we want to provide that no selfish interest, no material necessity, no lack of opportunity shall prevent the gaining of that education so essential to best citizenship. There is no short cut to the making of these ideals into glad realities. The world has witnessed again and again the futility and the mischief of ill considered remedies for social and economic disorders. But we are mindful today as never before of the friction of modern industrialism, and we must learn its causes and reduce its evil consequences by sober and tested methods. Where genius has made for great possibilities justice and happiness must be reflected in a greater common welfare.

Service the Supreme Commitment

Service is the supreme commitment of life. I would rejoice to acclaim the era of the Golden Rule and crown it with the autonomy of service. I pledge an administration wherein all the agencies of government are called to serve and ever promote an understanding of government purely as an expression of the popular will.

We cannot stand in this presence and be unmindful of the tremendous responsibility. The world's upheaval has been added heavily to our tasks, but with the realization comes the source of high courage, and there is reassurance in belief in the God given destiny of our republic. If I felt that there is to be no responsibility in the executive for the America of tomorrow I should shrink from the burden. But here are a hundred millions, with common reason and shared responsibility answerable to God and country. The republic summons them to their duty, and I salute cooperation. I accept my part with single-mindedness of purpose and hundreds of spirit and inspire the freer and surer of God in his hour. With them I am unafraid and confident for the future. I have taken the solemn oath of office on that passage of Holy Writ wherein it is said:

"What doth the Lord require of thee but to do justice and to love mercy and to walk humbly with thy God?" This I swear to God and country.

PREMIER HEARS BOTH SIDES

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, March 4.—The Turkish and Greek delegates to the Near East Conference held separate informal meetings with Premier Lloyd-George at No. 10 Downing street this morning. A formal session of the conference to hear the replies of the Turkish and Greek governments proposals to the Allied proposals was set at 4 o'clock today.

Press advices were to the effect that Greek delegates had rejected the proposals and that the Turks had accepted them "with reservations."

Oscar Markle is sawing wood with gasoline engine and saw this week with John J. Wood as helper.

One of the women who attended the Home Bureau meeting at the school house was much impressed by Dr. Day's instructions in regard to oxygen in the sleeping rooms and proper ventilation of same. That evening she attempted to carry out the rules.

Perhaps all would have gone well, had not a storm of snow from the east fallen during the night. The man of the house waking up saw something white on the floor and thought at first it was the moonlight shining in. He soon discovered it was snow which had drifted through the open windows filling his boots wetting his socks and leaking down through the floor to the room below. The young son awaking and hearing the commotion, said:

"What's the matter, Pa?"

"Why your ma's got the room full of oxen," came the answer.

The man of the house seems of the opinion that too much oxygen was worse than not enough.

ANNOUNCING The First Spring Showing of Parisian Dress Creations

BY

At Prices Never Before Possible for Parisian Modes

THIS first Spring display of Crown Parisian Dress Interpretations is one of extraordinary significance to those well-dressed women whose good taste is the guide in style in every community in America.

It not only means that here, in this community, the new French mode in dresses can be worn virtually at the same time as first worn in Paris. It also makes possible, for the first time, for well-gowned women to have in their wardrobes not perhaps a single costly Parisian gown, but to have even every dress, for every purpose—street, afternoon, sports or restaurant wear—of unquestionably Parisian origin and design, at a total expenditure not as great as one Parisian model required heretofore!

Through the exclusive Crown idea of adapting the Parisian dress mode for America in Paris, it has been made possible for the women of America to have authentic Parisian styles, correctly adapted, at moderate prices never attainable before. Maintaining designing headquarters in Paris, Crown has a staff of designers under American direction to watch every trend of the mode, to keep in closest touch with style sources, and use the advance information thus gained to adapt styles instantly to American social needs, sending them here with such unequalled speed that the correct American adaptations of a new mode appear in America at practically the same time as the originals are first presented in Paris!

This first Spring Display of Crown interpretations is brilliant evidence of what Crown creation means to every woman who seeks exclusive style, in distinction, smartness, and Parisian charm without Paris' prohibitive cost. Taking the vividness of spring colorings, translating the alluring silhouettes of yesterday, introducing novel necklines, new sleeves and ornaments in every smart fabric sponsored by Paris, this array is not only an inspiration, but the authoritative keynote of what will be worn this Spring!

CROWN · INC.
Paris · New York

Crown Dress Creations exclusively at this store

THIS presentation marks a new and great forward stride in the fashion-service of this store to the community. It marks a new recognition of its importance as a fashion-center—as the source of style in the truest sense for those who, because of their social standing, set the standard of dress for the community.

To see this Spring exhibition is an inspiration—and a style-influence in the selection of your entire Spring wardrobe. Will you come to view this exhibit tomorrow—and draw from it every advantage of advance and authentic knowledge of what will be worn this Spring?

BUY FOR UPTOWN SHIRT FACTORY

Samuel Hall has sold the property adjoining the Bosch property at the corner of Washington and Hurley streets to Newcomb & Rowe of Catskill, who, it is said, will demolish the frame dwelling and other buildings which are on the property and will erect a shirt factory on the lot.

The property has a frontage of both Washington and Hurley streets and is well situated for factory purposes. It is said the new owners selected that location because of its accessibility to a large residential section containing many residents who are at present employed in the various shirt factories in the central part of the city. The Higginville and Mapleton sections of the city and Union Hollow in the town of Ulster contain many factory employees and there are also a number who reside along the Hurley road who pass through Higginville daily on their way to work.

HIGH LIGHTS OF INAUGURAL SPEECH

Principal points in Harding's inaugural speech are:

We seek no part in directing the destinies of the Old World. We do not mean to be entangled. America can be a party to no permanent military alliance. It can enter into no political commitments, nor assume any economic obligations which will subject our decisions to any other than our own authority.

A world super-government is contrary to everything we cherish and we can have no sanction by our republic.

America is ready to encourage, eager to initiate, anxious to participate in any program likely to lessen the probability of war.

Mankind needs a world-wide benediction of understanding. In the new order of finance and trade we mean to promote enlarged activities and seek expanded confidence.

Our supreme task is the resumption of our onward normal way.

Discouraging individualism contents us like all the war-torn nations and these obligations must be provided for. No civilization can stand repudiation.

We can reduce abnormal expenditures and we will.

There is no instant step from disorder to order. We must face a condition of grim reality, charge of our losses and start afresh.

Any wild experiment will only add to the confusion. Our best assurance lies in efficient administrations of our proven system.

We must adjust our tariffs to the new order.

Service is the supreme commitment of life.

TO PRESENT FILM

"The Stream of Life" at Keene's Under Sunday School Assemblies.

"The Stream of Life," in six reels, will be presented at the Keene Theatre on Wednesday, March 23, under the auspices of the Sunday school of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church.

Through the courtesy of Manager George C. Gladders, "The Stream of Life" is by Dr. James K. Shields and is produced by the Plymouth Film Corporation. The musical accompaniment is arranged by Prof. Carl M. Roeder of Carnegie Hall, New York city. Last year the picture was shown for one week at the Easter season at the Casino Theatre, New York and afterwards for six weeks continuously at Ocean Grove, N. J.

Musical Memory at Keene's.

Owing to the fact that the scores for the pictures at Keene's today and tomorrow will not permit of any of the numbers from the musical memory contest list, Manager Gladders has secured from Charles A. Warren one of his triple tone photographs and the following numbers will be played at each performance: Spring Song, Mendelssohn; Savoir, Druis; both of which will be played by Maude Powell, violinist; and Maria, Bach-Gounod, played by Kreiser, violinist.

Lectured at Spencer's.

Professor E. I. Fish, who is employed by Prof. Bachelder, gave an interesting and instructive address before the students of the Business School Thursday afternoon at "Electrical Musicians," demonstrating the repulsive and attractive properties of these magnetic waves upon the human body. Prof. Fish made a study of this theme for years and made a study of this theme for years with authenticity and a personal knowledge of his subject.

Young Hebrew Women's Organization.

A Young Hebrew Women's Association has been organized under the patronage of Mr. Beck who was elected temporary chairman. Miss Tobols was elected temporary secretary and Miss Marfan treasurer.

3,473,466 JOBS LOST IN YEAR

United States Department of Labor Makes Survey of Employment Conditions.

INDUSTRIES HAVE SLOWED UP

Figures Represent Reduction of 25.5 Per Cent in Employment—Largest Percentage of Reduction in Automobiles and Accessories.

Washington.—American industries on January 1 employed 3,473,466 fewer workers than they did in January a year ago, so the United States Department of Labor announced. The figures were based upon a nation-wide survey of unemployment conditions made by a staff of experts between December 15, 1929, and January 15.

The figures represent a reduction of 25.5 per cent in employment. In other words the industrial plant at New Year's was operating at about 64.5 per cent of the stride it was hitting a year ago. This approximates the "two-thirds of capacity" estimate which experts have been making for some weeks past.

Director John B. Densmore explains that the 3,473,466 figure does not necessarily denote the actual number of the jobs in industry, as some may have been absorbed in pursuits not covered by the inquiry. Other officials pointed out, too, that the "army of the unemployed" is greater than the figures given as painful pursuits outside of industry were not embraced by the survey—it does not cover clerks, stenographers and other white-collar occupations or casual pursuits in which the slump has been hard felt.

The survey says comparative information from 35 states and the District of Columbia shows that a year ago the number employed in industry was 9,402,000. On January 1 this year it stood at 6,928,534, a reduction of 3,473,466. In addition, unemployment in the other 13 states ran the total to 3,473,466.

Michigan Hardest Hit.

Michigan is shown to be the hardest hit. The working force in the plants is reduced 52 per cent from one year ago. Of the other big industrial states, Indiana and Ohio come next, with a cut of one-half. Illinois is fourth, 44 per cent below a year ago.

By industrial groups, the largest percentage of reduction as compared with a year ago occurred in automobiles and accessories, which indicated a 60 per cent drop in employment. This industry a year ago employed about 5 per cent of the total number in all industry. Second comes the building trades with a reduction of 32 per cent. Twelve months ago these crafts employed about 11 per cent of all workers in industry. Next comes textiles and clothing, hatry and fur dressers, with a curtail of 26 1/2 per cent in employment; leather, boots and shoes, with a 26 per cent reduction; lumber, furniture, boxes and wood products, 25 per cent below last year; metals, machinery, electric goods and laundry products, 24 1/2 per cent off; clay, glass, cement and stone, 19 per cent off; packing and food products, 19 per cent below last January.

Jobless by Cities.

In 132 industrial cities the estimated employment in industry was placed at 1,332,750. Numerically New York led the cities in volume of unemployment. It was placed at 234,242. Detroit had a reduction in working force of 109,600.

Chicago's number of jobless in industry was given as 90,000. The Indiana Harbor district has 20,000. Cleveland has 21,000 fewer men in the shops. Philadelphia, 70,000; Baltimore, 39,000.

FIND ANCIENT BONES IN VAST 'NEW' CAVE

Kentucky Explorers Discover Underground City That May Rival Mammoth Cave.

In underground galleries never before visited by white men, a human skeleton has been discovered in Great Crystal cave, in Hart county, Kentucky.

Coincident with the discovery of the bones was the finding of a great underground "cathedral" which, it is said, will rival the wonders of Mammoth cave.

An avenue half a mile long and almost as level as a boulevard was found by explorers. The "cathedral" dome rises 200 feet above the bed of the cave. It is on a terraced ledge above the floor of the newly discovered gallery that the skeleton was unearthed from beneath a pile of drift.

Floyd Collins, on whose farm the cave was found, discovered the skeleton. Overturning a huge boulder which blocked a passageway, he thrust his torch into the aperture and crawled through.

As far as he could see the torch cast giant shadows on the walls. Others of the exploring party followed Collins and, leaving a signal fire at the opening, they began investigating the great underground passage.

It was while looking for driftwood for the signal fire that the skeleton was unearthed. The skeleton was left undisturbed and Dr. E. D. Turner of Cave City was called to examine it. He pronounced it that of an aborigine, perhaps of a race that preceded the Indians in Kentucky. No white man had ever before traversed the grotto.

Many miles of smaller avenues are yet to be traversed. The cave was discovered when Lee Collins, a brother of Floyd Collins, noticed the breathing of a sink hole on his place.

At times the air rushed out of the hole with a singing sound. With dynamite the opening was made large enough for a man to descend with a ladder.

The first explorer thought he had found the unexplored recesses of Mammoth cave. It is nine miles from the main entrance of Mammoth cave, but is a distinct cavern.

JANITOR IN HUGE SWINDLE

St. Louis City Man Believed to Have Collected $500,000.

An international swindle is believed by police and federal authorities to have been perpetrated in the arrest in St. Louis City, la., of Harry P. Saunders, janitor at a St. Louis college, on a charge of using the mails to defraud. His alleged scheme was to get money from English estates.

Authorities say Saunders may have secured $500,000. Where large estates were left, he would write a letter to the dead person, it is alleged. The letter was supposed to be an answer to one received a year or two previous regarding some debt the dead person was supposed to owe.

FREED THUG AFTER LECTURE

Man Gave Young Highwayman Tough Shaking After Dismaying Him.

Commanded by an armed stranger to throw up his hands, Leo Fleming of St. Louis, W. Va., tossed the wrappings to the ground, seized the young highwayman's arm with both hands and shook him. He then warned the footpad to change his occupation.

"You look as though you might be a pretty decent fellow," remarked Fleming. "Now get."

Poor Begging Man Died on Same Day.

Married 34 years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Croucher, 52 and 70 years old, respectively, died in Toronto, Wash., within an hour of each other. They became ill on the same day shortly after Christmas.

CONQUEROR COULD NOT WRITE

William I of England Signed His Name by a Cross to a Charter He Granted.

In the collection of Norman charters sold recently in England, the property of Baroness Beaumont of Carlton Towers, York, there is strong presumptive evidence that William the Conqueror was unable to write, for a great signed by him and Matilda, the queen, bears their cross.

This collection of Norman charters was made by the antiquary Thomas Stapleton, one of the members of the barony of Beaumont, and has been preserved for centuries at Carlton Towers. Its sale is attributed to the costs of the war and the present high bid.

The earliest grant is undated, but was made between the years 1067 and 1070. It is in Latin, on vellum, and is a grant by William (de Mowbray) for the salvation of the soul of his lord, William I, king of the English, and others, to St. Stephen church, Caen, of the Church of St. Mary, located in their names are the crosses of the witnesses, William, king of the English; Matilda, the queen; John, archbishop (of Rouen); Roger Beaumont (Beaumont); and Robert Beaumont (Beaumont). The document is one of the most interesting autographs that is likely to come into the auction room for some time. The evidence of William the conqueror's illiteracy is not conclusive, however, as it may have been thought beneath the dignity of the king to write his name, as William Roberts suggests. King Henry I also signed one of the charters with his cross.

HUNTING ACCIDENT AT WEST SHOKAN

Henry Bell Dies of Wound From Own Shot Gun—Carried Mile By Father With Whom He Was Digging Out Fox.

Henry Bell, 25 years old, of West Shokan, accidentally shot himself while hunting along the Bushkill stream in Ketcham Hollow Thursday afternoon and died an hour later from his wounds.

Mr. Bell and his father, Luke Bell, had been hunting for foxes which are reported to be plentiful in that section of the Catskills this year. About two o'clock in the afternoon they drove a fox into its hole and began to dig it out. Mr. Bell peered his gun against a rock while he was digging. When he had finished digging, he reached for his gun, taking hold of the end of the barrel and drawing it toward him.
The trigger caught on a small bush and exploded the shell.

The charge of shot entered Mr.
Bell's side, severing three ribs and perforating the intestines. His father carried him to his own home on the Watson Hollow road, about a mile away, where the young man died. He was conscious until death.

Mr. Bell was one of the most popular young men in the town of Olive. He was born in the house where he died and had spent practically his entire life in the vicinity of West Shokan. For several years he was keeper at Moonhew, formerly the Wittenberg Club, which is several miles further up Watson Hollow. Since early last fall he had been employed as chauffeur by Mrs. Norma B. Sigourney of West Shokan. He was extremely fond of hunting and had acted as guide to many hunting parties from Kingston. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Rachel Warden; his parents and one brother, Ralph Bell.
The funeral will take place from the West Shokan Baptist Church on Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock and interment will be in the family plot in the Woodstock cemetery.

Coroner W. Norman Conner of this city was notified of Mr. Bell's death and issued a death certificate.

Is "equal suffrage" but an empty slogan, or have women equal rights and privileges with men? Does gaining the ballot also carry with it equal authority to act, think, dress and speak like men? Or is that subtle sentiment called "public opinion" stronger than any sanction of the law? These problems and questions were put to a test recently when Miss Lillian Joffries, dressed
